

Three Brown, Goldstein & Levy Partners Named Best Lawyers® Lawyer of the Year

Brown, Goldstein & Levy is proud to announce that three of our partners have been named Best Lawyers "Lawyer of the Year" in their practice areas. Only a single lawyer in each practice area and metropolitan area is honored as the Lawyer of the Year. These lawyers are selected based on particularly impressive voting averages received during the peer-review assessments.

Andy Freeman was named the Best Lawyers 2018 Baltimore Employment Law - Individuals Lawyer of the Year. He has won numerous verdicts, judgments, and settlements of millions and tens of millions of dollars by mastering the relevant law and getting to know his clients, their problems, and the evidence in their cases. Andy was also selected by his peers for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America 2018 in the fields of Commercial Litigation, Labor & Employment Litigation, Mass Tort Litigation/Class Actions - Plaintiffs, and Plaintiffs Personal Injury Litigation.

Dan Goldstein was named the Best Lawyers 2018 Baltimore Civil Rights Law Lawyer of the Year. As counsel for the National Federation of the Blind, Dan has initiated a national legal campaign to ensure access to technology. His settlement of a class action against Cardtronics, which provides for tens of thousands of voice-guided ATMs, constituted a major step toward making this ubiquitous convenience accessible to the blind. His suit against Target.com set precedent regarding the application of access laws to websites, and his suit against America Online has made AOL accessible to the blind. In litigation from Maryland to Florida, he has helped ensure the right of the blind to vote independently and in secret. This work has gone beyond litigation to partnerships, including the negotiation of joint technology agreements with technology developers such as Amazon.com. Dan was also selected by his peers for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America 2018 in the fields of Commercial Litigation and White-Collar Criminal Defense.

Joshua Treem was named the Best Lawyers 2018 Baltimore General Practice Criminal Defense Lawyer of the Year. He appears frequently in state and federal courts across Maryland and neighboring jurisdictions in cases involving every facet of criminal investigations and prosecutions. He is particularly well known for his aggressive representation of individuals, including public officials, lobbyists, and high-level state administrators, as well as businesses, in state and federal criminal investigations and grand jury proceedings. Joshua was also selected by his peers for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America 2018 in the fields of White-Collar

Criminal Defense and Civil Rights Law.

Receiving the designation as Lawyer of the Year reflects the high level of respect a lawyer has earned among other leading lawyers in the same community and the same practice area for his abilities, professionalism, and integrity.
